I. Introduction/Executive Summary

The intent of this plan is to document the efforts of our community to coordinate transportation for our residents, especially the elderly and individuals with a disability. In order to be eligible for Federal Transit Administration (FTA) or Alaska Mental Health Trust funds through the Alaska DOT&PF Alaska Community Transit office (ACT), projects must be derived from a locally developed coordinated plan. These funding sources focus on the transportation needs of disadvantaged persons and those with special transportation needs that cannot be met through traditional personal automobile or public transportation means. The coordinated plan identifies existing transportation providers, unmet transportation needs and duplications in human service and public transit service. The plan also identifies goals and strategies to decrease duplication, address the gaps in service, and provide better transportation options for our community.

There is no general public transportation service provider within the Skagway Borough. However, year-round, Southeast Senior Services provides door-to-door transportation services to anyone over the age of 60 and any person with a disability regardless of age. The Borough does provide a seasonal transportation service during the months of May through September.

One of the main goals of this plan is to facilitate discussion among the various stakeholders on ways to meet the transportation needs of the community and deliver services effectively. For some residents, the service provided by Southeast Senior Services is their only link to work, shopping, health care facilities and other necessary services.

Public outreach for this plan included a public meeting, discussion of community transportation needs, gaps in services, and recommendations for a project priority list.

II. Community Information

A) Location

The Municipality and Borough of Skagway is a first-class borough on the Alaska Panhandle. It is 90 miles northeast of Juneau at the northernmost end of Lynn Canal, at the narrow glaciated valley at the head of Taiya Inlet. It is 108 road miles south of Whitehorse and is just west of the Canadian border and British Columbia.

Skagway is accessible by road via the Klondike Highway, which provides a connection through British Columbia and the Yukon Territory, Canada, to the lower 48 states or north to Interior Alaska.

Skagway is accessed by air, road and water services. The state owns a paved runway and Skagway receives regular state ferry and barge services. A breakwater, ferry terminal, small boat harbor, boat launch and boat haul-out are available, as well as three deep-draft docks for cruise and cargo ship berthing, cargo loading and storage. Freight arrives by barge, ferry and truck.

Skagway is an important port of call for the Alaska Marine Highway and serves as the northern terminus of the important and heavily used Lynn Canal corridor. The port of Skagway is a popular stop for cruise ships and the tourist industry is a big part of the business in Skagway.

Skagway falls within the southeast maritime climate zone, characterized by cool summers, mild winters and heavy rain throughout the year. Skagway has an average summer temperature of 63.9 degrees Fahrenheit and an average winter temperature of 26.2 degrees Fahrenheit. The average annual rain fall is 26.15 inches and the average snow fall is 49.2 inches. The average number of precipitation days is 133.

III. Assessment of Available Resources & Services

A) Coordination Working Group

A public meeting was held on November 13, 2017 at the Skagway Senior Center for citizens interested in transportation to discuss existing transportation conditions and needs in Skagway.

Coordination would not be possible without a group effort. Our community has come together to pool our resources and work as a team to provide enhanced mobility for our seniors and individuals with disabilities.

B) Current Transportation Options

Skagway is connected to the road system via the Klondike Highway, which provides a connection through British Columbia and the Yukon Territory, Canada, to the lower 48 or north to Interior Alaska. Skagway's only connection to other communities in Southeast Alaska is by the Alaska Marine Highway or air. The nearest Alaska community connected by the road system is Tok, Alaska. Anchorage is 550 miles from Skagway.

Skagway is an important port of call for the Alaska Marine Highway and serves as the northern terminus of the important and heavily used Lynn Canal corridor. Skagway has ferry service several times each week and vehicles can be transported via the ferry. Skagway has year round weekly barge service.

Skagway has an airport that is accessible by small aircraft. The State of Alaska owns the runway and is responsible for runway maintenance. The runway dimensions are 75' by 3,550'. Planes fly to and from communities throughout Southeast Alaska and sometimes Canada. The airport is in town and easily accessible.

Community members travel to and from Skagway by either ferry, plane or car to a variety of locations in There is no river in the Skagway Borough that can be used for transportation.

C) Inventory of Available Resources and Services

Below is a listing of the agency vehicles available and current transportation services within the community.

B) Gaps in Service

Transportation provided by Southeast Senior Services (SESS) operates seven days a week on an as-needed basis. Wheelchair accessible transportation is available through this service to any individual age 60 and older and to any person with a disability. All riders are allowed to have an escort accompany them. The driver also provides door-to-door service for all riders and offers assistance with bags when needed. Transportation is available by SESS to any location within the Skagway city limits. As long as the SESS vehicle is available (not in the shop for maintenance or repairs), the transportation demands of seniors and people with disabilities are being met.

Skagway's Municipal & Regional Transit (SMART) provides seasonal transportation from May 1 to October 1 from 7am to 9pm. The SMART buses are equipped with wheelchair lifts.
